

DID YOU KNOW?

Providing alcohol to teens is not ok with most parents. You might think letting kids drink at your house is “safe drinking”, but research says otherwise.

THE FACTS:

- It is illegal to provide anyone, even your own child, alcohol if they are under the age of 21.
- If you are caught providing alcohol to minors you face fines and jail time.
- You may be held liable for any injuries or damages caused by providing a minor with alcohol- no matter where that occurs.
- The teen brain is developing until the age of 25 and alcohol can damage that developing brain.
- Research shows that underage drinking has a series of negative consequences including reduced school performance, crime, injuries, risky sexual situations, motor vehicle crashes, and large economic impacts.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

- Refuse to give anyone alcohol who is under 21.
- Be home when your teen has friends over.
- Be sure teens are not bringing alcohol into your home.
- Lock up any alcohol in your home.
- Talk to other parents. Make sure they know you do not

HEY, PARENT.

My teen isn't allowed to drink alcohol.

Not Even At Your House.

No One's House is a safe place for teen drinking.

Teen alcohol use kills 4,700 people each year- that is more than all illegal drugs combined.

Car crashes are the leading cause of death for teens, and about a quarter of those crashes involve an underage drinking driver. Source: National Highway Traffic Safety Administration 9 out of 10 people with alcohol addiction starting using before they were 18 years of age.

Source: Source: NIAAA

The adverse affects from underage drinking costs the United States 148 billion dollars a year. Source: NIAAA